Career Overview

I am currently an undergraduate student majoring in Mathematics-Statistics at Rutgers University. Also, I am really interested in the business, so I have a minor in business administration in school years. As a member of Rutgers club tennis team, I have not only the aggressive personality to work under pressure, but also the good ability to work well with others. I am willing to incorporate new learnings and start from the bottom. With initiative, independent and good communication skills, I will bring a positive attitude and great passion to my work.
